In the Matter of the Arbitration between Khosrow Hakimian et al., Appellants, and Bear Stearns & Co., Inc., Respondent.

Supreme Court, Appellate Division, First Department, New York

December 6, 2007

CITE TITLE AS: Matter of Hakimian (Bear Stearns & Co., Inc.)

295 HEADNOTE

Arbitration

Confirming or Vacating Award

Arbitration award was confirmed where petitioner hedge fund investors failed to show that arbitration panel manifestly disregarded law when it dismissed their derivative claims for lack of standing-investors failed to allege under Delaware law that they were qualified to serve in fiduciary capacity as representative of all interests in hedge fund; failed to show that they had interest in hedge fund at commencement of arbitration; and failed to allege with particularity their pre-suit demand that hedge fund's principals take appropriate action or futility of such demand-as to other hedge fund entity whose interests investors sought to represent, investors admittedly failed to set forth in their statement of claim to panel legal standing requirements for Cayman Islands where entity was organized.

Kaufmann, Feiner, Yamin, Gildin & Robbins, LLP, New York City (Wayne M. Josel of counsel), for appellants.

Smith Campell, LLP, New York City (David S. Smith of counsel), for respondent.

Judgment, Supreme Court, New York County (Sheila Abdus-Salaam, J.), entered November 28, 2006, denying the petition to vacate an arbitration award and granting respondent's cross motion to confirm the award and dismiss this proceeding, unanimously affirmed, with costs.

Petitioner hedge fund investors failed to show that the arbitration panel manifestly disregarded the law when it dismissed their derivative claims for lack of standing (see Bear, Stearns Sec. Corp. v 1109580 Ontario, Inc., 409 F3d 87 [2d Cir 2005]; Wallace v Buttar, 378 F3d 182 [2d Cir 2004]). Whether the investors had standing to sue on behalf of the hedge fund, Olympus Partners, L.P., was to be determined by the law of Delaware, where the entity was organized (see generally Matter of CPF Acquisition Co. v CPF Acquisition Co., 255 AD2d 200 [1998]). The other hedge fund entity whose interests the investors sought to represent, Olympus Partner Fund, Ltd., was organized in the Cayman Islands, and the investors admittedly failed to set forth the legal standing requirements for that jurisdiction in their statement of claim to the panel. In any event, as to Olympus Partners, the investors failed to allege under Delaware law that they were qualified to serve in a fiduciary capacity as a representative of all the interests in the hedge fund (see id., citing Youngman v Tahmoush, 457 A2d 376, 379 [Del Ch 1983]). Furthermore, there was no showing by the investors that they had an interest in Olympus Partners at the commencement of the instant arbitration, or at the time the entity allegedly dissolved (see Alabama By-Products Corp. v Cede & Co., 657 A2d 254, 264 [Del 1995]; accord Tenney v Rosenthal, 6 NY2d 204, 211 [1959]). The investors also failed to allege with particularity, inter alia, their presuit demand that the hedge fund's principals take appropriate action, or the futility of such demand (see Stone ex rel. AmSouth Bancorp. v Ritter, 911 A2d 362, 366-367 [Del 2006], citing Del Rules of Ch Ct rule 23.1; accord Walker v Saftler, Saftler & Kirschner, 239 AD2d 252 [1997]). The burden remained with the investors to establish standing to assert derivative claims (*see 296Alabama By-Products Corp., 657 A2d at 264; Strategic Asset Mgt., Inc. v Nicholson, 2004 WL 2847875, 2004 Del Ch LEXIS 178 [2004]; see also Del Code Ann, tit 8, § 327), and, on this record, the panel could conclude 2 that the investors did not meet that burden.
